Volume 14 - July 2014

Summer is in full swing now and many of us will escape the Tucson heat for cooler climates, with San Diego being a common destination. However, if your time or budget this year doesn't allow for travel outside the state then consider visiting one of our many impressive attractions. Sometimes as residents we take for granted what's in our own backyard and don't visit the tourist sites. There is a reason people travel to see them though, and perhaps this is your year to explore Arizona. Among the more popular sights are; The Grand Canyon, Sedona, Monument Valley, Saguaro National Park, Hoover Dam, Canyon de Chelly, Montezuma's Castle, and Barringer Crater.

HOUSEHOLD TIPS - EARTHQUAKE PREPAREDNESS

June's 5.2 magnitude earthquake in eastern Arizona caught all Tucson residents by total surprise, but underscored the need to be vigilant in preparing for all manner of situations. Our monthly "In The Know" newsletters are aimed at reminding everyone of important preventative measures. Last month we talked about tips to prepare for the year's monsoon season, but this month we will go ahead and provide a few earthquake preparations which can be made in the unlikely event a more major quake occurs.

- ▶ Place large or heavy objects on lower shelves to avoid falling objects.
- ▶ Have flexible pipe fittings installed to avoid gas or water leaks.
- ▶ Hold earthquake drills with your family, identifying safe spots.
- ▶ Brace top-heavy objects and securely anchor overhead lighting.
