

LATEST NEWS

Before purchasing a home it's always crucial to investigate the area surrounding the property to fully understand the potential for future development, impediments to views, and even road construction that might impact the entire neighborhood. Two good examples of road construction around the Northwest Tucson area right now are along Tangerine Road from La Canada to Dove Mountain Boulevard & at the intersection of Ina Road & I-10. Both of these projects are helpful and necessary infrastructure improvements but they'll also be very inconvenient for nearby residents over the next two years that it takes for the work to be completed. Researching upcoming road work and development is a buyer's responsibility, but Team Woodall is always here to help our clients in performing their necessary due diligence.
