About Vail

Nestled at the base of the Rincon Mountains just 15 miles southeast of Tucson, Vail, Arizona, is a growing community known for scenic desert views, strong schools, and affordable housing. Vail is part of the highly rated Vail School District, which consistently attracts families looking for quality education and a safe, welcoming environment.

Vail has a rich history dating back to the late 1800s when it was established as the Empire Cattle Ranch by Edward and Walter Vail. The area later became a key location for storing and transporting ore from the nearby Helvetia Copper Mine. Today, Vail blends its historical roots with modern growth and development, making it an appealing place to live in Southern Arizona.

From a real estate perspective, Vail offers a wide range of housing options, including new construction homes, master planned communities, and properties with larger lots. Many buyers are drawn to Vail because home prices are often more affordable compared to central Tucson, while still offering newe...
